

Turning and Returning Carceral Landscapes:
BURIED HISTORIES, INCARCERATION ALLIES,
MANZANAR
PILGRIMAGES

April 27, 2019 marks the 50th Manzanar Pilgrimage which will observe two anniversaries: the signing of Executive Order 9066 in 1942 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt that unlawfully incarcerated thousands of Japanese American citizens during WWII AND the 27th anniversary of the establishment of the Manzanar National Historic Site in 1991 that reclaimed the truth of this shameful episode in American history. We mount a series of five events to interrogate this unjust incarceration, to reflect on its ongoing effects, but most importantly, to learn from the past and arm ourselves with strategies to combat ongoing efforts to incarcerate all peoples now and in the future.
