

STUDENT LIBRARY SERVICES

We support students from across all seven institutions comprising The Claremont Colleges consortium. With great study and collaborative spaces, and more than 3 million print, digital, and archival materials combined, the Library is here for you every step of the way throughout your academic career.

QUICK TIPS

Your College ID provides access to the Library and a wide range of physical materials

Honnold and Mudd are the names of the two physical buildings where the Library is housed

The borrowing period for books is one semester

GETTING SUPPORT FROM SUBJECT LIBRARIANS

Each discipline at The Claremont Colleges has a corresponding subject librarian. Your subject librarian is happy to answer questions and help you with your research. Here are some examples of how your subject librarian can help:

- Answer your questions about research or the Library by email, phone, or in one-on-one research appointments
- Help you brainstorm and develop a research topic and discuss research strategies
- Recommend resources pertaining to your topic
- Help you track down specific materials
- Assist with attributions and citation management
- Purchase materials that will expand your research options and the Library's collections

Explore our subject librarians and the various topics each one can help you with by visiting library.claremont.edu/librarians.

COURSE READINGS

Each semester the Library acquires the course readings used across the 7Cs to put on reserve for students to access. In addition to print copies which are available on Honnold 1 for checkout for up to four hours at a time, the Library will also obtain an e-copy when possible.

You can check to see if we have the books for your courses by clicking the "Course Readings" icon on the Library website homepage.

REQUESTING MATERIALS

If the Library doesn't have something you need for your research, you can take advantage of our Resource Sharing services. This is a free service where we borrow/request items from other libraries such as articles, books, book chapters, and more.

Learn more about Resource Sharing, the process, and policy by visiting 7clib.cc/rs.

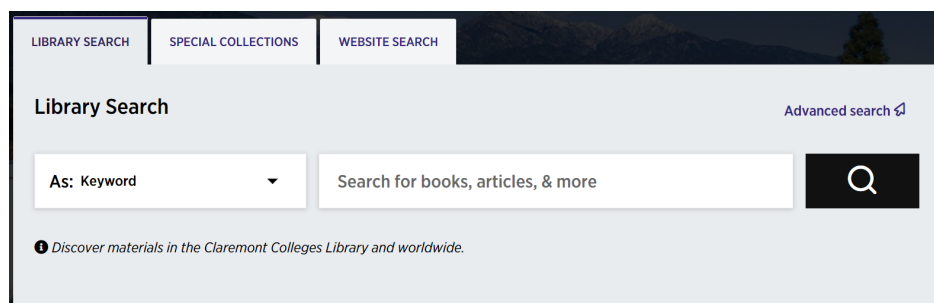

ACCESSING RESOURCES ONLINE

As a student of The Claremont Colleges you have full access to the Library's collection of databases, eJournals, eBooks, streaming videos, and so much more!

You can access these resources through The Claremont Colleges Library website. Then, to use a database or access a journal article, you will be prompted to log in using your network login username and password.

And don't forget to link Google Scholar to the Library! Setting up your Library Links in Google Scholar ensures that you are directed to the full-text of journal articles that we subscribe to. Review the FAQ at 7clib.cc/GoogleLink to learn how to do this.

STARTING OUT YOUR RESEARCH

The screenshot shows the Library Search interface with tabs for LIBRARY SEARCH, SPECIAL COLLECTIONS, and WEBSITE SEARCH. The Library Search tab is active, showing a search bar with a dropdown menu set to "As: Keyword" and a search button. Below the search bar is a link to "Advanced search". A note at the bottom states: "Discover materials in the Claremont Colleges Library and worldwide."

You can start your research from the Library's website homepage by utilizing the "Library Search" function (seen above).

TIP: Bookmark the Library's homepage on your computer for quick access to resources - library.claremont.edu.

LIBRARY SPACES - SO MANY OPTIONS!

In addition to a variety of open work spaces throughout the Library, you also have access to reservable spaces including two conference rooms, nine group study rooms, several classrooms, and the Founders Room. Learn more about Library spaces: 7clib.cc/spaces.

FUN FACT: While the Library has four floors, our multi-tiered stacks in Mudd actually hold seven levels of books and materials available for research and study.
